ELECTRONIC TAXI TICKET SYSTEM

ABSTRACT

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To provide convenience for both enterprises and users utilizing taxi tickets.

SOLUTION: An electronic taxi ticket system comprises a reservation terminal (2) performing reservation of a taxi ticket by entering at least a scheduled date for use and information on destination, a taxi ticket issue server (1) issuing an electronic taxi ticket with reservation electronic value encoded and with an electronic certificate of an enterprise in use to the reservation terminal based on an reservation application from the reservation terminal, a portable information processing medium (3) storing the reservation electronic value of the electronic taxi ticket via the reservation terminal, an on-vehicle device (4) decoding the reservation electronic value by reading the reservation electronic value in the portable information processing medium and writing in a service history sent from a car navigator (5) while the information of destination is transmitted to the car navigator and defining settlement data at the destination, and a service management server (6) performing the issue of a bill by reading the settlement data from the on-vehicle device and service auditing work.

... air transportation industry is examined using static equilibrium models. It is predicted that fares and service may temporarily reach unprofitable levels in some markets until a new equilibrium point is attained...

...existing network should be maintained, since the vast majority of city pairs are economically viable. Certificated carriers may be expected to have an advantage during the adjustment period due to an established route network, market identity, and a history of service. Empirical evidence from England and Australia, where the trucking industry was abruptly deregulated, indicates that...

TEXT:

HOTEL RESERVATIONS NETWORK CELEBRATES NEW SERVICE TO ATLANTA
AND SAN DIEGO; TRAVELERS RECEIVE UP TO $180 IN AIRFARE DISCOUNTS
DALLAS, TX Nov. 29, 1993 /PRNewswire/ -- Hotel Reservations Network (HRN), a free discount hotel booking service, has announced today it is now servicing Atlanta and San Diego. The two additional cities brings the number of destinations serviced by HRN to 20. To celebrate the company's new service, HRN is offering consumers up to $180 in airline discounts. Travelers will receive the money-saving airline coupons when they book a hotel stay with HRN.
Our goal at Hotel Reservations Network is to provide our clients with the most value for their travel dollars,'l said travel expert Bob Diener, president of HRN. "We pride ourselves in meeting our client's needs, whether its adding new cities or offering them airline discounts.

In Atlanta, HRN offers rates between $49-$109 per night for savings as much as $91 a night. HRN caters to both the business and leisure traveler and has accommodations in downtown Atlanta and the airport, as well as in Buckhead. Travelers will save as much as $80 a night in San Diego with rates between $45-$79. Again, HRN has chosen properties geared to business travelers and vacationers with properties in the business district and near many of San Diego's tourist attractions.

To receive the airline discounts, travelers must book a hotel reservation with HRN by Dec. 31, 1993, for a stay anytime in 1994.
HRN offers substantial discounts for savings up to 65 percent off the regular rate in metropolitan cities such as New York, Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, Hawaii, London and Paris at hundreds of properties including Marriott, Westin, Sheraton, Holiday Inn and Hilton.

Certain restrictions and black-out dates apply. For reservations call HRN at 800-96-HOTEL.
